ADVANCES
IN MIND-BODY MEDICINE

CONFLICT OF INTEREST DISCLOSURE FORM

Conflict of interest may exist when an author(s)—or his or her institution or sources of funding related to this manuscript—has financial or other relationships that could inappropriately influence his or her actions. These relationships vary, and not all relationships represent true conflict of interest; however, all of them should be disclosed.

Financial relationships (such as employment, consultancies/retainers, stock ownership, honoraria) are some of the more obvious potential conflicts of interest and the most likely to undermine the credibility of the author(s) and of science itself. Many others exist as well and can range from personal relationships to patent ownership.

All authors on a manuscript must disclose any conflicts of interest to the subject matter about which they are writing. The same holds true for reviewers and editors. Please include that information below. Each author must complete and submit one of these forms. Disclosures may be published at the end of your manuscript if it is accepted for publication.

Title of Article_____

Name(s) of Commercial Interest(s) Discussed in this article _____

_____

Name of Discloser _____

Types of financial relationships and the company with whom I have a relationship are as follows:

Check Appropriate Boxes	Type of Financial Relationship WITHIN THE PAST 12 MONTHS ONLY (from today's date)	Indicate Applicable Manufacturer(s) WITHIN THE PAST 12 MONTHS ONLY
☐	Salary
☐	Royalty
☐	Receipt of Intellectual Property Rights / Patent Holder
☐	Consulting Fees (eg, advisory boards)
☐	Fees for Services Received Directly from Commercial Interest or their Agents (eg, speakers' bureaus)
☐	Contracted Research
☐	Ownership Interest (stocks, stock options, or other ownership interest excluding diversified mutual funds)
☐	Other

If you reported relationships in the chart above, do any of these relationships impact your ability to present unbiased study results? ☐ Yes ☐ No

☐ I have no real or apparent conflicts of interest to report.
I represent that the foregoing information is complete and truthful.

_____ _____
Signature of Reporting Individual Date of Submission